This is a guide to three treks to the limestone buttresses of the Rätikon Alps and the snow-bound heights of the Silvretta. The Silvretta and Rätikon stretch along the borders of Switzerland, Liechtenstein and Austria. The Tour of the Silvretta, the Prättigauer Höhenweg and the Rätikon Höhenweg are between 5 and 8 days long; in addition, the guide also offers 12 hut-to-hut walks.

The Silvretta and Rätikon may stand together, but their geology and landscapes are vastly different. Together, they feature picturesque alpine villages, a large selection of mountain huts and a range of walkers' passes to provide excellent trekking.

Along with detailed route descriptions, the guide includes maps, information on travel to and around the area, practicalities on equipment and trekking logistics, as well as details on climbable peaks and points of interest.
